Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 09 Aug 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Further showers at times, but drier by Tuesday.

Today:
A rather cloudy day, with showers forming in the west of the region initially and then moving east throughout the day. Some of the showers will be heavy and thundery. A notable breeze and feeling cool. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloudy through the evening and into the night, with some isolated fog patches. Most areas should remain dry, although a scattering of showers will continue in places, especially across Lancashire. Minimum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tuesday:
After a cloudy start, any early showers should clear to leave a much brighter afternoon with sunny spells. Feeling warmer in the sunshine with light winds too. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Rather cloudy conditions persisting, particularly through Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning. Some light rain is possible with this, perhaps heavier in the north. Dry on Friday with sunny spells.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.